

...the way they have been taken together, they need to be analyzed in the context of the system, looking at the behavior of the system as a whole, and not just at the individual components.

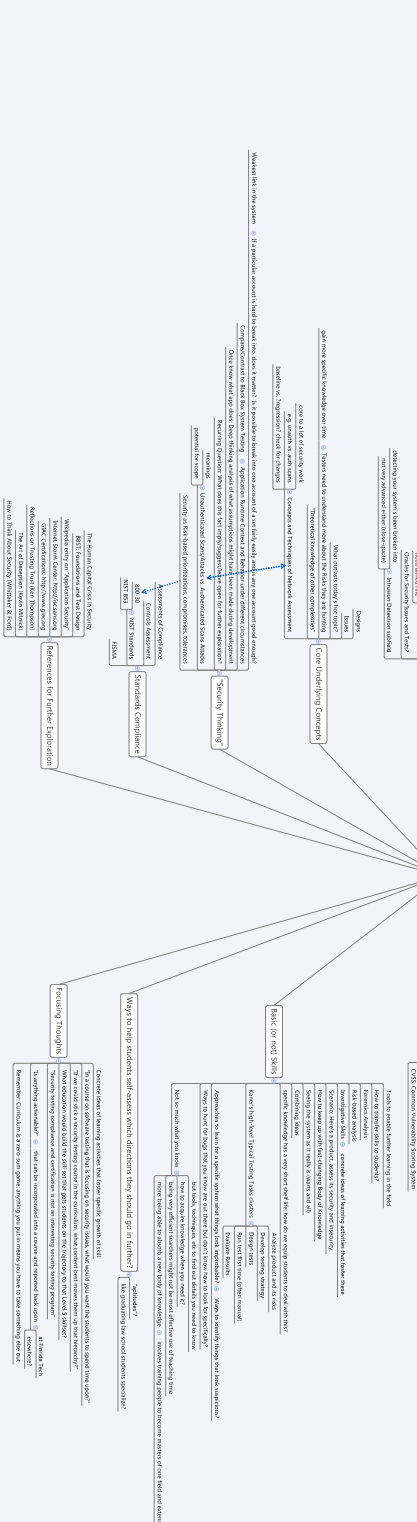

...the way they have been taken together, they need to be analyzed in the context of the system, looking at the behavior of the system as a whole, and not just at the individual components.

...the way they have been taken together, they need to be analyzed in the context of the system, looking at the behavior of the system as a whole, and not just at the individual components.

...the way they have been taken together, they need to be analyzed in the context of the system, looking at the behavior of the system as a whole, and not just at the individual components.

...the way they have been taken together, they need to be analyzed in the context of the system, looking at the behavior of the system as a whole, and not just at the individual components.

...the way they have been taken together, they need to be analyzed in the context of the system, looking at the behavior of the system as a whole, and not just at the individual components.

...the way they have been taken together, they need to be analyzed in the context of the system, looking at the behavior of the system as a whole, and not just at the individual components.

...the way they have been taken together, they need to be analyzed in the context of the system, looking at the behavior of the system as a whole, and not just at the individual components.

...the way they have been taken together, they need to be analyzed in the context of the system, looking at the behavior of the system as a whole, and not just at the individual components.

...the way they have been taken together, they need to be analyzed in the context of the system, looking at the behavior of the system as a whole, and not just at the individual components.